To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to provide a reference and my highest recommendation for David Mullaney.

I have worked with David since January of 2006 (my start date) at Advanced Micro Devices (AMD) on the Personal Internet Communicator (PIC) project. This computing device is in support of AMD's 50x15 initiative which is intended to bring 50% of the world's population online by 2015.

David has worked for AMD since September of 2005, providing customer project management as well as process streamlining within our organization. As a Technical Program Manager, David is a key member of our marketing team and is often looked to for project management expertise, process management, and issue resolution. He provides professional, thorough, organized, and high quality work that leads to extremely satisfied customers. David is self driven, delivers on time, and is a very effective communicator. On a regular basis, David has gone above and beyond normal expectations to ensure that the projects that he is responsible for are completed with quality and in a timely manner. David is a pleasure to work with!

Recently, AMD reorganized the corporate structure and announced the closure of our Longmont facility. David was among the 140 professionals who were released in the form of a reduction in workforce.

Please feel free to contact me with any questions about David. I would highly recommend him for any position that he is considering. I believe that he would be a great asset for any team, and I would hire David again given the opportunity.

Thank you for considering David for your team.

Sincerely,

Chris Berg
