This letter comes to recommend David Mullaney for employment in a number of possible positions. David worked two days a week with National IMPACT this term taking on a variety of tasks to help us get through a particularly stressful period of our year. David answered mail, filled orders, responded to requests for information, secured copy and action information from our six issue networks and an assortment of hotlines and put that information into our computer bulletin board, assisted with data entry, constructed a portable display for IMPACT, edited two publications for us, one through the full printing and mailinghouse process. He also assisted with our national 4-day legislative briefing as photographer and "boy Friday", and worked his way around the office to provide some kind of assistance to each staff member.

His willingness to take on such a range of tasks and the cordial, helpful way he approached his volunteer time with us was truly a blessing to our over-worked staff. David's abilities are considerable and his commitment to justice and peace ministry equally so. I had hoped we could find a place for him here at IMPACT as a part of our staff, but the realities of budget and physical space make this is not possible.

David worked very collaboratively here and seemed to learn through this experience how important consultation with colleagues is. He is fluent in Spanish, adept with "fix-it" tools, a quick study with computer skills, a fairly good writer, knowledgeable particularly about Central America, and committed to empowering people.

He was well liked by our staff and skilled at fitting in with people from a variety of cultural backgrounds.

I commend him to you.

Cordially,

Gretchen Eick
National Director
